Why thank you for your vote of confidence in me. To answer your questions: I first got interested in the Iditarod when my mother wanted to take a dog sled ride with a local musher. When I saw the dogs run, I knew that's what I wanted to do. To train my dogs: I train the dogs by running them and giving them good care & nutrition. We start in the fall and add miles on each run. Right now we run about 50-60 miles each run 4-5 times a week, sometimes we do 3 day camping trips or enter smaller 200 or 300 mile races to train and condition.

Dear DeeDee Jonrowe,

Hello, I'm Bryce from a tiny town called Celeste in Texas. I am writing to you cause were doing a project over who we think well be in the top five in the Iditarod and I choice you cause your every experienced and you have been in any top finishes in the Iditarod. Also the way you treat your dogs For the project, were supposed to ask you question about you or yours dog so here they are. What made you join the Iditarod and what do you do to train the dogs?
