Hi Dalton

Thank you for choosing me as your favorite musher. I am honored. I train my dogs all year around, like someone preparing for a marathon, we start out with short training runs and increase the mileage as races get closer. Nutrition is also a big part of good racing. My dogs get feed good high quality commercial dog food and meat. Lots of water, lots of care to their feet and attitude.

My best
Lance

Dear Lance Mackey,

You are my favorite musher in the Iditarod. You are the best racer and I know you are going to beat Jeff King again this year. I was wondering how do you train your dogs I know that people have there different ways but I was wondering how you train yours? I was also wondering how many years have you been doing the iditarod? I also wanted to wish you good luck on your race.

Sincerely,

Dalton E
