Thanks for your note Kelsey

I am helping Paul out with answering some of his email here, as he is out taking care of our dogs right now.

To answer your question, Paul joined the race after meeting and working with Martin Buser on a commercial fishing crew many years ago. Paul and Martin became good friends. Paul is a carpenter, and would later build a large part of Martin's house. We have our own dogs and kennel, and although Paul and Martin remain friends, they are competitors too. Sometimes Paul finishes ahead of Martin, sometimes Martin finishes ahead of Paul.

Paul is also working on building a new dog sled. He is one of the very few mushers that does build his own sleds.

Good luck on your project. If you are interested, during the race, I will post daily updates on our website

Have a great day - Evy Gebhardt (Paul's wife)

I hope that Paul wins the race because he could bet them in the other players that are way in front of him and he could win if he tried and put his heart into and never give up. I have faith in him and I would love if you wrote me back my teacher made us do this stuff but it was fun finding out stuff about ya'll we made a PowerPoint but the race and other things and I am just asking why did you join the race.
