

CHS Student to be Published in Anthology of Poets Book

Sophomore student at Celeste High School, Amber Stembridge, has received the honor of having an original poem published in the anthology A Celebration of Young Poets. Each year English teacher, Dr. Suzanne Sorrells, searches for that gifted student writer who can compose a poem worthy of submission to the Creative Communication writing contest in Logan, Utah. This year there were thousands of entries in this contest and not every entry is invited to be published. It is considered an honor to be chosen for the anthology and makes a strong statement about both the student as well as the classroom teacher submitting the piece for competition.

“It is an excellent tool for motivation and stimulates an appreciation for poetry. It has proven to be a self-esteem booster for the chosen students and stirs a sense of energy hard to generate from everyday regular instruction in the classroom” said Dr. Suzanne Sorrells.

Amber’s poem will now be entered into the final Top Ten winner’s category for possible awarded prize money and scholarship money from the contest.
